

Historic, Archive Document

Do not assume content reflects current scientific knowledge, policies, or practices.

Another Winner

ONE OF THE DICKINSON LINE

"Queen" Poultry Mash

Invaluable as a Supplementary Feed for Winter Laying

Hens that are too closely confined during the Winter, if fed entirely on heavy grain, will not give the desired results. The regular grain ration should be supplemented once a day by some mixture of ground feed containing a liberal quantity of nitrogenous (albuminoid) matter. The importance of such a variation of feed must not be overlooked to obtain the proper recompense for the outlay.

The "balanced ration" is the ration for hens as well as for cows, and is the cheapest.

"QUEEN" POULTRY MASH meets the requirement and is so proportioned as not to be wanting in any particular. Composed of only choice, sound and sweet ground grain, beef scraps and Alfalfa Meal, etc.

FOR SALE BY

